SECANT HEALTHCARE ADDS NEW MIGRATION ARCHITECT

Chicago, Ill. – March 23, 2017 – Secant Healthcare, LLC has hired John Gatewood for the position of Migration Architect. Gatewood comes to Secant with more than 25 years of experience in data migration and healthcare IT.

“We are excited to welcome Gatewood to our team here at Secant Healthcare,” said company president, Marwan Baya. “His previous experience with DICOM and PACS integrations, VNA migrations, and imaging EMR optimization, make him a great fit for our data migration solutions, but also the custom software we are developing for broader integration needs of our clients. John has delivered services for industry innovators such as the Mayo Clinic and Stanford University Hospitals, both domestically and outside of the U.S.”

Prior to Secant, Gatewood spent 27 years working for GE Digital as the Advanced Technical Support Engineer & Sr. Systems Administrator. Over his career, Gatewood has been the recipient of nine major awards, including the Six Sigma Green Belt.

“I am looking forward to my time with Secant Healthcare and applying my skills to help take Secant to the next level as a global leader in data migration,” said Gatewood. “Secant is making great strides in Healthcare IT, and I am excited to contribute to the growth and success of this company.”

Gatewood earned his Bachelor of Science in Mathematics from the United States Naval Academy. Gatewood also graduated from Indian Hills Community College with an Associate of Science in Electronics Technology and Computer Science.
